AT HOME WITH ART AND ARTIFACTS

Designed To Showcase The Owners' Varied Collections, An Eclectic Home In Bal Harbour Provides Comfortable Space For Year-Round Living

25th Anniversary

Holly Hunt sofas shape the expansive living room, where cabinetry by Christian Liaigre appears to float on the back wall. Interior designer John Barman's favorite piece of art is Ludicas Trio, the magnetic sculptural balls that sit atop a Lorin Marsh nickel cocktail table.

COMMISSIONED TO DESIGN A SPACIOUS BAL HARBOUR condominium, interior designer John Barman was instantly taken with the large 6,500-square-foot space. Stunning 180-degree vistas of the Atlantic Ocean seen through floor-to-ceiling walls of glass caught his eye and his imagination. Perched on the 20th floor of an existing high rise, two condos had been joined and gutted. Now it was up to Barman to reconfigure the entire space to showcase about 150 pieces of art and artifacts that the owners had collected during their travels. Step inside, where a pristine interior is upbeat wrapped in white and dotted with black by design ... and complete with all the art and artifacts that color his clients' life. ♦
